HONORING DEPARTMENT HEADS, MANAGEMENT AND THE CLUB

The BOARDROOM magazine is now accepting entries for the "2010 Distinguished Club Awards." These awards are designed to honor clubs for outstanding achievements within the club's organization. Today more than ever, clubs need to recognize employees, departments and programs that are setting the bar and distinguishing themselves. Those that stand out and deliver a phenomenal product to their members and guests need to be recognized and spotlighted. Winners will be selected for overall performance and excellence in their respective fields, along with their vision for future growth and impact on the overall health of the club and the member's experience.

HONORING DEPARTMENT HEADS, MANAGEMENT AND THE CLUB

The BOARDROOM magazine is now accepting entries for the 2010 DISTINGUISHED CLUB AWARDS. These awards are designed to honor clubs, employee's, departments, and programs for outstanding achievements within the club's organization.

Today more than ever, clubs need to recognize employees, departments and programs that are setting the bar and distinguishing themselves. Those that stand out and deliver a phenomenal product to their members and guests need to be recognized and spotlighted.

An independent panel of "Industry Experts" representing the various aspects of private club operations will be reviewing all award entries and nominations. All entries must provide supporting materials reflecting key elements that are critical in a successful club.

Winners will be selected for overall performance and excellence in their respective fields, along with their vision for future growth and impact on the overall health of the club and the member's experience.

Awards will be announced and distributed throughout the year and winners will be recognized and featured in a 2011 edition of The BOARDROOM magazine.

Any club awarded 5 or more Distinguished Category Awards will qualify for a GM/COO Award of Distinction as well. In addition, any club awarded 10 or more Distinguished Category Awards will have the honor to qualify for the Distinguished Emerald Club award that goes specifically the club.
